Dr. Merrell has written up the requisitions needed to take a full blood work up from you - however, he recommends you fast for the blood test...he says many of the important tests will be relatively inaccurate and you would need to be re-tested to get accurate results (he mentioned cholesterol, triglycerides, testosterone, and others) His office could take you at 8:30am any day next week and if we planned it, maybe even 8am. After saying all this, Dr. Merrell add that taking an afternoon test is not without value, as long as you did take a morning test also and you can compare the peak and troughs of your levels....His office could take you up to 2pm today. Please let me know what you wish to do.
